Greene and the Senatorship.

The friends of Congressman Frank L. Greene can not be insensible to the handsome things now being said of him as a possibility in connection with the campaign for the United States Senate. Under certain circumstances not likely to arise Greene might be drafted by Vermont for this position. As the situation stands at present Vermont has more to gain from keeping the congressman from the first district where he is than from any other particular one thing the Green Mountain state can do in the national capital at this particular time.

This is another way of saying that Congressman Greene himself can gain more prestige for Vermont and consequently for himself where he is at this particular time than he would secure now even from an election to the United States Senate. He realizes this fully himself. In his own words he is "jogging along in an endeavor to serve the people in the first district so nearly to their satisfaction that they may be willing to have me keep on doing it."

It may be well to show more in detail why Greene and Vermont have more to gain from his service in the House than from his elevation to the Senate at this time. Greene went to Washington fully equipped by taste and aptitude and experience to take a prominent part in consideration of the military affairs of the nation. That fact secured for him a prominent place on the House committee on military affairs, and with the return of the Republican party to power he will be near the chairmanship of that body, more important than at any other time since the Civil war, not forgetting our little brush with Spain over Cuba.

Preparedness is recognized as a chief issue in American affairs at this time. Congressman Greene is well equipped to shine in that connection. Indeed he has introduced a measure for the codification of the military laws of the nation extending over a long series of years, bringing them up to date, revising them and reducing them to an intelligent as well as a working basis. Every military man is now wondering why this was not done long ago.

Greene has put Vermont at the front in the House and he can help keep her there. Thomas R. Reed became a big leader in the House. Underwood of Georgia and of tariff-tinkering fame was a bigger man in the House than he is today in the Senate. If Greene continues to keep Vermont in the limelight in a helpful way in the House, his senatorial future will take care of itself.—Burlington Free Press.

TALK OF THE TOWN

See the $1 shoes at Fitts'. Mr. and Mrs. George Halverson of Camp street are the parents of a daughter born Saturday, July 15.

Miss Ellen M. Hoar of East street is attending the season of Orange county court at Chelsea.

John P. Corcoran of Short street has been passing a few days with friends in St. Albans and Swanton.

Milton H. Jones of Central street went to Northfield this morning to remain with friends for a few days.

Automobile livery. Mrs. H. S. Miles, 32 Merchant street. Tel. 228-12. Prices reasonable. Take parties anywhere.

Arthur Cormack left the city yesterday for Bethlehem, N. H., where he is to be employed during the remainder of the summer.

The regular monthly meeting of the trustees of the Barre City hospital will be held at the hospital building Wednesday evening, July 19, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Owens of South Main street leave the city tomorrow for Old Orchard, Me., there to make a stay of several days with friends at the beach.

Andrew Bjorn, taking exception to a statement in yesterday's Times, declares that it was he and not Leopold Nussel, who decorated the interior of the Park theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hosmer and daughter, Elizabeth Ruth, of Fair Haven are passing several days in the city as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McKenzie of Merchant street.

Mrs. Louis K. Badford of Montpelier, who plays the piano in the Park theatre orchestra, is taking a vacation of ten days from her duties, a part of which she is passing with friends in Boston.

Auley Ogston, who has been passing a few days at his home on Ayers street, returned this morning to Fort Ethan Allen, where he is a member of the cavalry unit of the 1st Vermont regiment.

Mrs. Edwin W. Bruce and daughter of Nelson street left the city this morning for Highgate Springs, where they are to be encamped for a few weeks. They will be joined later in the month by Mr. Bruce.

Mr. and Mrs. James Signorelli, who have been visiting friends and relatives in Boston and vicinity for the past week, returned to Barre last evening. Mr. Signorelli resumed his duties as prescription clerk at the Red Cross pharmacy this morning.

A. C. Moore of Beacon street has returned to the city from Ausable, N. Y., where he has been passing a few days with his brother. He was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Ellen C. Moore, who has been making an extended visit in northern New York.

Barre Town road makers are centering a good deal of their energy these days on the improvement of a considerable stretch of highway just west of the dug out on the East Barre road. For a distance of several rods the highway has been widened and deep excavations have been made for the purpose of providing a substantial foundation for the new road. From the Barre Town line to East Barre the road will be in good condition when the work now under way is completed and travel by motor from this city to points east will be made much more comfortable.

A hundred or more veterans of the war between the states are expected to gather at Dewey park tomorrow for the 10th annual reunion of the Washington County Veterans' association. Recently the park was put in excellent shape for the summer picnic and for two days the old guard is to have its own way in the little wooded district on the Montpelier road. Secretary John R. Wilson of Woodstock will be on the grounds early to receive members of the association, as will Dr. E. J. Foster of Waterbury Center, the president. Women of Barre and Montpelier, members of the relief corps, are to assist in providing meals for the veterans during their stay at the park.

When the Clapp party of Iowans was about to board the train at Montpelier yesterday, members of the Barre Board of Trade appeared on the platform and distributed to each of the thirty-five men and women stamped souvenir postcards depicting scenes in the Barre quarry and manufacturing districts. The favors were received enthusiastically and if the visitors needed any additional indication of Barre's hospitality the distribution of postcards, ready for the mailing, did the trick. Cheers given by the visitors in front of Hotel Barre just before they left for Woodstock were repeated at Montpelier. From Woodstock the Iowa people will go to the White mountains and thence to Portland and Old Orchard, Me.

C. F. Smith, auctioneer, was in Bradford last Saturday holding an auction sale of livery stock and some cattle for W. S. Williams, at the Morgan horse stables near Hotel Low. Notwithstanding the fact that it was a good hay day and people right in the midst of haying, a good crowd turned out and prices were very satisfactory. One pair of bay horses brought $510, one pair of black horses $452.50, 1 single black horse $225 and other single horses sold along down to $65, the lowest price. 16 horses in all and one child's pony for $110, wagons, harnesses, blankets, robes and other stable equipment sold well. Two 2-year-old heifers brought $30 and $45 each, 6 yearling heifers sold for $40 each, all to one man. Mr. Smith goes to Lebanon, N. H., this week Saturday to attend an auction sale of real estate for Dr. Hazeltine.

Notice to Public.

Anderson Petre, who has been visiting relatives in the city for the past few days, returned to his home in Burlington this morning.

Harold Ball, cashier at the Wells River freight office, commenced his vacation yesterday and will visit friends in Boston, Old Orchard, Me., and New York and Atlantic City.

Reorganization of the running teams which represented Barre firemen in the state firemen's tournament last year is under way and to the end that the volunteers may have a strong representation at the tournament this year, the call has been sounded for practice. The 1916 competitions are to be held in Rutland Labor day. Prizes aggregating nearly $2,000 are to be distributed to hose companies, the first prize being $600. A feature of the tournament will be a hub race with the three ranking teams as the participants. An extra prize of $100 is offered the winner. Gilbert Phillips is captain of the Barre runners at present, but the pressure of other duties will prevent him from serving through the summer, and a successor is to be elected. Regular practice at the Ayers street park will be initiated this week.

News has been received in the city of the marriage of Miss Mary A. Reid, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Reid of 19 Bassett street, to Amelio Minuti of Concord, N. H. The ceremony took place at the Baptist church in Concord. Rev. Walter C. Myers officiating. The bride was attended by Miss Mary Flaherty and the groom by Edward Quimby. After the wedding, a reception was held at 5 Walker street, Concord, and at a late hour the couple left for a honeymoon trip to Maine.

On their return they will make their home at 38 Walker street in Concord. The wedding gifts were many, including furniture, linen and a china set, and a handsome check from the groom's father, who is in the granite business in that city. The bride is a well-known Barre young lady, having been employed for the last seven years at the Barre Steam laundry. The groom is also well known in this city, being last employed at the Johnston & Gustafson granite plant as a letter cutter. Their friends wish them a long and happy life.

Auto Ambulance Service

We are in a position to give prompt auto ambulance service at any hour of the day. Whether a long or short trip is needed, much time is saved compared to the horse drawn ambulance. An emergency trip to the Wetmore & Morse quarry was made in 8 minutes from the time the call was received. On the 7th of July we made a trip to the Mary Fletcher hospital in Burlington in 2 hours and 10 minutes. We have also made three return trips to Waterbury. Promptness is essential in answering ambulance calls. We can assure you the best of service, as we have the only auto ambulance in this county or in this part of the state. Yours for prompt service.
